

Consume & Adapt

OmenXIII

Our touch keep us close, but our lies bring us closer
My eyes on my motives, my heart getting colder
I'm getting temptation, but I'm still not folding
The money can't change me, it can't keep me sober

I tried to understand the meaning of my life
The life's not a moment, I appreciated what I had inside
There's potential in my mind, I been bringing into line
Sounds so scattered 'round from random 'til I look them all online

It's funny words can really make a fucking difference
'Cause they don't wanna speak, nobody wanna listen
As I get older I started to see things different
As I keep going I understand things like didn't

Life is simple, I hope it can keep my interest
I'm just tryna find a reason to keep living
Don't say you love me if you hate all my decisions
I ain't try to fit in, bitch, I'm still a misfit

I already changed my life, I made a difference
Can you say the same thing? Are you living?
Do the consequences push you from your vision?
If you hate it, what's the purpose of existing?

I make decisions and sometimes they change me
I make a living, yeah, my living made me
I'm independent, still for that I'm thankful
I'm still with my brothers, and for that I'm grateful

'Cause without 'em, I prolly would be different
'Cause without 'em I might not be in the picture
Yeah, without 'em I prolly would be different
Yeah, without 'em I might not be in the picture

Her touch keep us close, but our lies bring us closer
My eyes on my motives, my heart getting colder
I'm getting temptation, but I'm still not folding
The money can't change me, it can't keep me sober

What am I looking for?
Is it loved war?
What do they see in me?
Some opportunity?
Can they feel what I feel?
Or are they pretending?
Can they relate to me?
Or do they feel different?
Nah, I don't give a fuck
That's 'cause I know what I want
Bitch, I don't need anything
But that doesn't mean a thing
I know you can't see what I see
So why would I judge you for that?
You need to just be you and be
You need to stop judging yourself
You need to stop asking for help

If you want, just help yourself
You need to stop helping strangers
If they can't appreciate it
I found that money can't make me
So now I know I can make them
See now my appearance changing
Yeah, my experience changing
I wanna do better for me
Don't have to explain myself
But I like to share what I think
I think it's important to share
I think it's important to care
I think it's important to trust
So my expectation just set
I try to hold myself above

I make decisions and sometimes they change me
I make a living, yeah, my living made me
I'm independent, still for that I'm thankful
I'm still with my brothers, and for that I'm grateful

'Cause without 'em, I prolly would be different
'Cause without 'em I might not be in the picture
Yeah, without 'em I prolly would be different
Yeah, without 'em I might not be in the picture

Her touch keep us close, but our lies bring us closer
My eyes on my motives, my heart getting colder
I'm getting temptation, but I'm still not folding
The money can't change me, it can't keep me sober