

I'll Take You In

OmenXIII

Late night walking in the moonlight's gaze
Looking 'round for something but I'm not sure what it is
If the wind blows, can it take me away?
If it takes me away, will it take away the pain

Take away the pain, take away my name
Leave me faceless, Leave me blank
Open up your eyes, if you really want to see
Walk into the shadows, come and find me

I'll take you in, take you home, take you back to the place that you used to know
Back to the place that you used to go, underneath the tree's that you used to own
In the comfort of the shade that you used to have, Wood chairs on grass, cold water on tap
Old bubble screen fuzzy, with them black fuzzy slippers, If I ever catch you slippin, then that blade is gonna hit ya

Nothin makin sense, and that's just how the world works
No I ain't the first to say it, but that doesn't change the world