

You wear your heart on your sleeve
I just wear mine on my hood
Raise it up and recede in the shade for good
Receive a taste of disgust, I return the look
We ain't on the same page, we in a different book
I could leave you shook, boy please don't test me
I don't waste time sending out the message
I come through, do just what I said I do
Then it's back off in the cut
I ain't ducking, I just move
Like a ghost, I'm comin' through

Let it all fall down
It never really mattered in the first place
Please don't come around
I never really mattered in the first place

Let it all fall down
It never really mattered in the first place
Please don't come around
I never really mattered in the first place

I grew up by myself, so I like to be alone
And I came up in the heat, so I like it when it's cold
I was raised in the sun, I think that's why I like the moon
I am death, I'm a crow, I'm a rose, I'm the truth
You're a lie, you're a joke, bitch I know, you ain't real
If you were, you'd be dead, you pretend, you're the man
With the plan, but you're not, 'cause I got the schematics in the vault
Keep it locked up, keep the combo, keepin secrets from the world

Let it all fall down
It never really mattered in the first place
Please don't come around
I never really mattered in the first place

Let it all fall down
It never really mattered in the first place
Please don't come around
I never really mattered in the first place
