

Blur My Memory

One Step Closer

Through all the burdens I hold over my head
I'll make myself forget why I even care at all

Then blur my memory, keep it on your shelf
I'm used to spending days running from myself

Now all at once my worlds collide
From staring at the ceiling of my room
I feel it overtaking all I know
You kept counting all my reasons

Then blur my memory, keep it on your shelf
I'm used to spending days running from myself
Then blur my memory, keep it on your shelf
I'm used to spending days running from me

Give me a life with meaning
And let myself run free
Right now
Give me a life with meaning
And make it all worth living for

I'll drown in angst but not today
The choice was made to set myself free
(The trees they shine with beauty
Like it's a distant memory
Give me a life with meaning
And make it all worth living for)
I'll drown in angst but not today
The choice was made to set myself free
(The trees they shine with beauty
Like it's a distant memory
Give me a life with meaning
And make it all worth living for)
I'll drown in angst but not today
The choice was made to set myself free