

The Stranger

Orange Goblin

I need to crack the earth right open
And throw myself into the abyss
I don't believe it's an addiction
But I know I like to kill like this

I've studied your kind, I've taken my time
I know stars can't shine without the dark
I can't follow rules, I don't suffer fools
I know there's no flame without a spark

I need to rip my heart wide open
To find out just what I have become
Some kind of mental introspection
Examine just why I feel so numb

I don't feel remorse, I need no recourse
The blood in my veins is cold as ice
A murderous mind, two species entwined
The stranger forever lost in time

Twisted in my visions
Overloaded, lost control
Random in my choices
No one follows, no one knows
There is beauty in my violence
So malicious, so serene
There is method in my madness
Calculated yet obscene

Twisted in my visions
Overloaded, lost control
Random in my choices
No one follows, no one knows
There is beauty in my violence
So malicious, so serene
There is method in my madness
Calculated yet obscene

I don't feel remorse, I need no recourse
The blood in my veins is cold as ice
A murderous mind, two species entwined
A stranger forever lost in time

A stranger lost in time
A stranger lost his mind
A stranger lost in time
A stranger lost his mind...