

Call You Mine

Orianthi

The moon's rising up in this California sky
I think that I should leave, but I feel so high
The way you look at me, oh, there's something 'bout you Wish I could fix myself but I know too well, I'll drowning in t his booze

Tell me, how many times can a heart break before you don't feel nothing?
This ain't love, but it's something that I won't be forgetting

Well, I don't wanna fall, well, I don't wanna feel
Well, I don't wanna wake up in your arms
And make believe this could be real
'Cause I keep chasing shadows while trying to find a rainbow
Maybe some day, maybe somehow, maybe in some life
I could call you mine

Catch the late flight out just to see you again
You said you loved me while being more than just friends
You gave me seven drawers at your own place
A false sense of hope, guess I should've known you just love th e chase

Tell me, how many times can a heart break before you don't feel
nothing?
This ain't love, but it's something that I won't be forgetting

Well, I don't wanna fall, well, I don't wanna feel
Well, I don't wanna wake up in your arms
And make believe this could be real
'Cause I keep chasing shadows while trying to find a rainbow
Maybe some day, maybe somehow, maybe in some life
I could call you mine

I don't wanna fall, I don't wanna feel
I don't wanna wake up in your arms
And make believe this could be real
'Cause I keep chasing shadows while tryna find a rainbow
Maybe some day, maybe somehow, maybe in some life
I could call you mine