

Things That I've Learned

Orla Gartland

Don't compare your face to the other faces it's not worth it
Take up all the space, even when you think you don't deserve it
You're living your life in your mind, you don't get it Never buy the jeans that you've never seen, you'll regret it

These are the bridges that I've burned, these are the things th at I've learned
These are the bridges that I've burned, these are the things th
at I've learned

It's ok to feel everything you feel all of a sudden Store it on the shelf for a day when you feel nothing
All of the lovers, and others, they don't get it There's no manual and if there is I haven't read it

These are the bridges that I've burned, these are the things th
at I've learned
These are the bridges that I've burned, these are the things th
at I've learned
The bridges that I've burned, these are the things that I've le arned
These are the bridges that I've burned, these are the things th
at I've learned

These are the bridges that I've burned, these are the things th
at I've learned
These are the bridges that I've burned, these are the things th
at I've learned
The bridges that I've burned, these are the things that I've le arned
These are the bridges that I've burned, these are the things th
at I've learned

Don't compare your face to the other faces it's not worth it
Take up all the space, even when you think you don't deserve it
You're living your life, in your mind, you don't get it Say what's on your mind, every single time, don't regret it
