Wind

Orleans

If I had the wings to fly, I would go with you
High above this tired world, alone with you
We would never die, just grow and then subside
Like the ocean tides, I would flow with you

Oh, wind, I hear you blowin'
Oh, wind, where are you goin'?

We could sweep the earth and clean the sky
Dry away the tear in a baby's eye
Cool a heated brow, smooth away a frown
Soothe with the sound of a gentle sigh

Oh, wind, I hear you blowin'
Oh, wind, where are you goin'?

All the world is touched by your tender song
Birds take wing and they sing along
High above, they glide, thankful for the ride
Floating by their side is where I belong

Oh, wind, I hear you blowin' (I can hear you blowing)
Oh, wind, where are you goin'?
I hear you blowin' (I can hear you blowing)
Oh, wind, where are you goin'?
I hear you blowin' (I can hear you blowing)
Oh, wind, where are we goin'?
