

Step Inside

Orthodox

Step inside this menacing, empty space
Too dark to see, too cold to breathe
Nothing survives, the worst isn't just imagined
It's speaking and it's alive

I can't see but I can hear a voice

Screaming out, something's fighting, something's dying
Is there enough worth trying to save?
I know the face, don't know if it's lying
But I can give it everything that it craves

Scolded devotion, deceit in motion
Disgrace that leaves a mark
Everything I swore to protect Bound and carried out by an unfamiliar figure
Walking through a door left open to the dark

Nowhere to look, nothing to find
Too dark to see, too cold to breathe
Heavy chest, a threat unspoken
I never thought I'd be the one who was chosen

Something's making a hunt out of me
I was never meant to see

Screaming, something's fighting, something's dying, something's
wrong
Screaming, something's fighting, something's dying, something's
wrong
Screaming, something's fighting, something's dying, something's
wrong
A door left open

Stuck inside a hole, hell that I made into home
Terrified and aware there's no blood here but my own
A proud incarnation of sin, forever live to regret
I should've never let it in
I should've never let it in
I should've never let it in