

I stand and turn off the light. The room is dark and empty. Just like I am now.