

Remember Me

Our Hollow, Our Home

These withered pages of a chapter undone
From the ink of a poison pen spoken by a serpents tongue

It comes in waves, the bitter realization
Another day spent in turmoil is nothing more than damnation
I pray for hope but I can't help but feeling
If I'm destined to die, then what's the point in believing
Self deprived in a comatose state
Am I another statistic, another soul for the slate?

Every second feels like a stalemate
And every movement feels like a mile
Can I just be alright for a little while?

Can someone tell me how to live like I'm not dying?
'Cause I'm so afraid to die alone
Now that I can feel the pressure rising
I cannot afford to lose control
I just need to know that you're still with me
'Cause I couldn't bear to let you go
Time is short and life is oh so fleeting
And in the end, we're all just dust and whispers in the wind

I've got a hundred voices in my head
Should I let them in?
"Don't do something you'll regret"
Well I've never been fond of the company
Yet another sleepless night
I can't escape this goddam anxiety
No matter how hard I try
It's always been my greatest weakness

Every second feels like a stalemate
And every movement feels like a mile
I feel like screaming out, is anybody listening?
Can I just be alright for a little while?

Just let me be alright for a little while

Every second feels like a stalemate
And every movement feels like a mile
I swear I'm screaming out, why is no one listening?
Can I just be happy for a little while?

It's all getting too much to carry
It's all getting too much to bear
And I've never felt more alone, does anybody care?

Can someone tell me how to live like I'm not dying?
'Cause I'm so afraid to die alone
Now that I can feel the pressure rising
I cannot afford to lose control
I just need to know that you're still with me
'Cause I couldn't bear to let you go
Time is short and life is oh so fleeting
And in the end, we're all just dust and whispers in the wind

I'm so sick of this goddam anxiety
I swear this isn't how it's supposed to be Another victim of a broken society
I just need help