

Will Someday Change

Our Lady Peace

You say that love is a disease
Restless in its company
Like a river to the sea is where you run
You say that all the birds have flown
The heart an antique turned to stone
There is comfort in this great unknown

And all that you've known
And all that you've saved
All that you've known will someday change

You say forgiveness don't last long
You hear the ticking of the bomb
Leaves you wondering where it all went wrong

And all that you've known
And all that you've saved
All that you've known will someday change

Light will lead us all like comets spirits traveling (2x)

And all that you've known (light will lead us all like comets)
And all that you've saved (spirits traveling)
And all that you've known (light will lead us all like comets)
And all that you've saved (spirits traveling)

And all that you've known (light will lead us all like comets)
And all that you've saved (spirits traveling)
And all that you've known
