

The Unknown

Our Mirage

I'm standing on the roofs of this town
It's like I'm at the edge of the earth, where endless roads go down
How can I be so alone?

And in this way too crowded town
I am doomed to be the unknown
How can I be so alone?

I've been standing here for hours
Right on the top of this house
A lot of people passing by
And there is nothing that they care about

I mean, how can they ignore
That I'm about to jump and hit the floor?
This town is full of faces staring down
So I am drowning in the crowd

And all that I have left is just this view
And I know that this is true

I'm standing on the roofs of this town
It's like I'm at the edge of the earth, where endless roads go down
How can I be so alone?

And in this way too crowded town
I am doomed to be the unknown
How can I be so alone?
How can I be so alone?

How can I be so alone?

The sun is setting now and the air is cooling down
I can see the faces that they have never shown

I mean, how can they just try
To let the whole world pass 'em by
This town is full of faces staring down
So I am drowning in the crowd

And all that I have left is just this view
And I know that this is true, I know that this is true

I'm standing on the roofs of this town
It's like I'm at the edge of the earth, where endless roads go down
How can I be so alone?

And in this way too crowded town
I am doomed to be the unknown
How can I be so alone?
How can I be so alone?

How can I be so alone?

I'm standing on the roofs of this town
It's like I'm at the edge of the earth, where endless roads go down
How can I be so alone?

And in this way too crowded town
I am doomed to be the unknown
How can I be so alone?

And in this way too crowded town
I am not doomed to be the unknown
I know that I won't be alone
I know that I won't be alone
