

Bells

Ours

I'm the weight against you, the debt that spent you
The sleeping evil in your cell
The past that bent you, the demon when you run
The shadow in your sun

All of the things you thought would come true
All of the things you lost are going to change yourself

The last one went through, so fast it sent you
Screaming til you'd hear no more
You crashed right into the past
And when you're done your future will be gone

All of the things you thought would come true
All of the things you lost are going to change yourself
You lost belief in all that left you
Forced to bleed before they bled you
You chased yourself

All of the things you thought would come true
All of the things you lost are going to change yourself
You lost belief in all that left you
Forced to bleed before they bled you
You chased yourself

The bells will get you, the bells will get you, even if you run
The bells will get you, believe me, when you run, run