

Arbitrary

Over October

Everything I've got in me is temporary
But there's one thing that won't die
All these questions in my head are arbitrary
The words I can't find
Girl you know that time and time again I see you
And all I need is your smile
The chances are you don't even care I see it
But you light up my love

Different from the rest far above the others
Cause in a world of people
There is only one that you'll find

Don't you know how long I've been waiting to see?
Past the fog in all the misconceptions
Let it be, don't worry we'll get through the rain
Past the doubts and fears and other false complexions
Whether or not, sooner or later
Together we've got something that's greater
And there's nothing that can keep me from falling for you

Don't even know for sure of where we are heading
As long as you're near
We'll beat the odds and overcome the confrontations
There's no need to fear

A hand for you to hold, a shoulder you can cry on
And in our years together we'll just leave them troubles behind

Don't you know how long I've been waiting to see?
Past the fog in all the misconceptions
Let it be, don't worry we'll get through the rain
Past the doubts and fears and other false complexions
Whether or not, sooner or later
Together we've got something that's greater
And there's nothing that can keep me from falling for you

Oh waiting on something we don't know what
But this something, this one thing is all we've got Searching for answers we've searched too far
Not knowing the answers are all you are
I know in time we will find a way
It's just you and me, me and you, Lord, I pray
Whether or not, sooner or later
Together we've got something that's greater
And there's nothing, oh nothing
Ohhh no nothing, no nothing
Can keep me from falling for you
