

Deja Vu

Over October

Taking every piece of me you can take in
Wasting every ounce of effort I'm making
Playing games and every rule you are breaking
This heart can only take so much of you
But now the only thing it needs is you

Reaching, holding on to something that ain't true
Chasing, chasing everyday just to get you
Nothing, all you give amounts to nothing
This heart can only take so much of you
But now the only thing it needs is you

Take me back to the place where we first met
'Cause all I ever want is the love that lasts
And even though you might be in his arms
I will love you more than he'll ever love you

Crawling, lost inside your world, can't forget you
Dreaming dreams no guarantee of deja vu
Walking, walking all along trying to find someone new
This heart can only take so much of you
But now the only thing it needs is you
Is you, is you

Take me back to the place where we first met
'Cause all I ever want is the love that lasts
And even though you might be in his arms
I will love you more than he'll ever love you

Take me back to the place where we first met
'Cause all I ever want is the love that lasts
And even though you might be in his arms
I will love you more than he'll ever love you
I will love you more than he'll ever love you
I will love you more than he'll ever love you