

Neverland

Over October

Headlights glowing like the fire by a campsite
It's a quarter past midnight
Praying the traffic lights turn red
Hands are sweaty knowing you're sitting beside me
I'm tempted to sightsee
Just glad this ain't all inside my head

Hold me tight by the hand
Take me to neverland
I hope that you understand
I'll always be true

I'll fight through the gates of hell
To make sure you're always well
And though only time will tell
I'll always be true

Street lights flicker as the sun starts to rise
I'm lost in your eyes
Another sleepless night with you
Can't imagine what I'd do without your warmth
My thoughts begin to swarm
You hold me and I know I'll make it through

Hold me tight by the hand
Take me to neverland
I hope that you understand
I'll always be true

I'll fight through the gates of hell
To make sure you're always well
And though only time will tell
I'll always be true

You'll never see you through my eyes
Don't you know that you're beautiful
In the end when I'm wrinkled and white
You will always be beautiful

Hopes hanging by a thread
Messages left unread
Wish I was rather dead
But I'll live life for you

And when you look down on me
I hope you'll be proud to see
Someone who loves truly
And lives life for you
