

Fair Game

Pain

I'm lost amongst the demons
That whisper in my head
Endless trails of twisted thoughts I tread
When nowhere you go
Feels like home
The pain is buried deep
Inside this heart of stone

No surrender to these haunting lies
In these dark days, my spirit shall rise

Let the true blood rise through with light
Fair game in the darkest night
Let the true blood rise through the black
Conquer all that holds you back

This world may spin its web
Of deceit so profound
There's still a glimmer left here on this solid ground
So let it rain despair, I will not fall
When the storm comes
We're all standing tall

Let the true blood rise through with light
Fair game in the darkest night
Let the true blood rise through the black
Conquer all that holds you back

No matter how far or wide
On holy ground they will arrive

Let the true blood rise through with light
Fair game in the darkest night
Let the true blood rise through the black
Conquer all that holds you back