

White

Palaye Royale

Lies, your dirty lies lost in your eyes
Your big blue eyes, they can paint the sky
Don't be so scared to be yourself
Alright

But time hasn't been kind
Losing your mind, trying to find
A place where you can lie to yourself
Happy alone

Yeah and you're on your own

And I go

And I am a damaged man
My black soul turns to white
She's just the woman that
Keeps me warm at night
I said

White white brick road
White white brick road

Lights bushed full into your heart
Behind your soul which is now gone
That you sold so many years ago

Alright

Then you know

And I am a damaged man
My black soul turns to white
She's just the woman that
Keeps me warm at night
I said
She walks the streets so mean
And there's people at my feet
So stop there, stop there
Children with the white flags in the air
And I am so scared
When I dawn I won't be there
Yeah

White white brick road, alright
White lies you told
White white brick road
I said, take my money but not my soul
White white brick road, yeah
White lies you told
White white brick road
Take my money but not my soul

And I am a damaged man
My black soul turns to white
She's just the woman that

I said
Everybody's 'bout to scream
What you gonna think you of me

White white brick road
White lies you told
Take my money but not my soul

White white brick road
White lies you told
