

Eighteen

Pale Waves

This city depresses me
But you try to be everything I need
We sat on the corner kissing each other
Felt like I could finally see in colour

I was eighteen when I met you
Poured my heart out, spilt all my truth
I finally felt like I could feel for the first time
When I met you

Everybody passed us by
With the same conversation time after time
I could stay by your side all night
Baby, it's just you and me and that's fine

I was eighteen when I met you
Poured my heart out, spilt all my truth
I finally felt like I could feel for the first time
When I met you

I was eighteen when I met you
Poured my heart out, spilt all my truth
I finally felt like I could feel for the first time
When I met you

I was eighteen when I met you
Poured my heart out, spilt all my truth
I finally felt like I could feel for the first time
When I met you
