

...and with hope you'll be damned

Paleface

I don't get why people hold on to hope like it is a lifeline in a storm
I don't get why we let hopes sweet whispers drown out the call of reality
I don't get why you spit arrogance
I don't get why you speak ignorance
I don't get why we cling to hope like it is our one and only savior

And in the dim lights of false tomorrows
We are seduced by hope, but it is hollow
Wearing the hope like a blindfold
Ignoring the truths untold that we unfold

What would you do if life would fuck you?
If someone wants to kill you?
And no one is now with you?
Will you sit here and think hope will save you?

Ah shit

An ending of this curse is never in sight
The tunnel is so dark so I can't see light
And you never ever told me how I should cope
Ay
I always fucking told you that I hate to hope
And

...and with hope you'll be damned
...and with hope you'll be damned
...and with hope you'll be damned
...and with hope you'll be damned

There's a raw truth in abandoning hope
I'm looking inside and finding the guts to able to cope
I'm letting go, I see things clearly now
Digging deep, trying to get out here somehow

...and with hope you'll be damned
Ah shit

An ending of this curse is never in sight
The tunnel is so dark so I can't see lights
You never ever told me how I should cope
I always fucking told you that I hate hope

...and with hope you'll be damned
I fucking told you
That with hope you'll be damned
With hope, you'll be damned
With hope you'll be damned

Dying won't end it
Hope will damn you

Dying won't end it
Hope will damn you

Dying won't end it
Hope will damn you

Hope will end you
Hope will damn you
