

Aaron

Palehound

Your mother wanted to name you Aaron, but her body built you as a different man

And, my friend, if you want me to, I'll call you Aaron
I can, I can, I can, I can, I can, Aaron, I can

You sing your song with your back turned to me, your body's sha king, voice certain still

And if closing my eyes will help you turn around, Aaron
I will, I will, I will, I will, I will, I will
I will, I will, I will, I will, I will, I will
I will, I will, I will, I will, Aaron, I will

And the water's warm but it still stings your shins when you ar e wading in

And it's worth the swim, I feel so weightless
Rid of our bodies, come and float with me

Your father wanted to take you shopping for something to wear o n his wedding day

And when I saw you standing there with your shirt tucked in, we ll
I caved, I caved, I caved, I caved, I caved, I caved
I caved, I caved, I caved, I caved, I caved, I caved
I caved, I caved, I caved, I caved, Aaron, I caved

And the water's warm but it still stings your shins when you ar
e wading in

And it's worth the swim, I feel so weightless
Rid of our bodies, come and float with me

You live your life with your back turned to me, your body's swa ying, voice steady in stance

And if shutting my mouth will help you turn around, Aaron
I can, I can, I can, I can, I can, I can
I can, I can, I can, I can, I can, I can
I can, I can, I can, I can, I can, I can
I can, I can, I can, I can, I can, I can
I can, I can, I can, I can, I can, I can
I can, I can, Aaron, I can
