War

Palisades

You're the only one to blame
If you try to see looking through your sleeve
You don't have to be afraid
But if you try to clean with kerosene
You'll burn away
You roll the dice to see your fate
The devil always wins the game
You're better off with throwing grenades

Blow it up you like the way it burns
You'll burn at every turn
Soon enough you're gonna have to learn
When you light the fire to your flame
There's nothing left to say
Don't expect for me to call your name

Cause you wanna dream
But your therapy gets stuck inside your head
And when you try to leave
The hand that feeds is on your neck
You roll the dice to see your fate
The devil always wins the game
You're better off with throwing grenades

Blow it up you like the way it burns
You'll burn at every turn
Soon enough you're gonna have to learn
When you light the fire to your flame
There's nothing left to say
Don't expect for me to call your name

You're the only one
You're the only one to blame
Come on
The only one to blame

Blow it up you like the way it burns
You'll burn at every turn
Soon enough you're gonna have to learn
Explode, Explode
When you light the fire to your flame
There's nothing left to say
Don't expect for me to call your name

You're the only one to blame
Don't expect for me to call your name
The only one to blame
Don't expect for me to call your name
The only one to blame