

The Book

Paprika Korps

There's a book which can change your life
You read it, realized, found a different vibe
You can track, the route, predict details
And you will never be afraid

There's a man behind that book, meanwhile
He is a flesh and blood not a bread and wine
He smokes a pack a day, and he drinks too much
And he's about to change your life

There's a book behind that man meanwhile
He read it, realized, found a different vibe
He mismatched some clues,
He added some lies and even he doesn't see disguise

We're being played like a deck of cards!
We're being used like a box of matches!
