

You Should Be Sleeping Now

Paprika Korps

There's a vision in the corner of my eye of a phantom passing to my side I can see the trace of the glowing light shining the window of your house

You should be sleeping now

There's a break in the silence of the night distance sound of motor in my car you can hear me now while I'm passing by for you I'm just a noise which disturbing the calm

You should be sleeping now

Two inercial frames of reference meeting for one moment here by chance we can feel our presence while we are passing by in the darkest hour of the sleepless night