

I didn't notice that you had been broken
If I had been broken like you
I would have fallen apart by now
But here you are wandering, here you are believing

Your secrets and whispers, they're lying to you
But I held your hand when you asked

Come down and tear the blue
And I would go anywhere, anywhere for you
Come down and tear the blue
And I would do anything, anything for you

(Just stay close)

Cuz you never noticed that I had been broken
But you held the parts in your hands
And I would say starlight would light up our paths
But here you are stumbling, here you are retreating

Your secrets and whispers, they're lying to you
But I held your hand when you asked

Come down and tear the blue
And I would go anywhere, anywhere for you
Come down and tear the blue
And I would do anything, anything for you

I'd even cross out my eyes for you
Do I really need to cross out my eyes?

She lived her life, there was nothing to lose
But I held her hand when she couldn't hold herself up again

Come down and tear the blue
And I would go anywhere, anywhere for you
Come down and tear the blue
And I would do anything, anything for you
Secrets and whispers, they're lying to you
But I held her hand when she couldn't hold herself up again

And I would do anything, for you
I'd even cross out my eyes for you
Do I really need to cross out my eyes for you?
