

Body

Parabelle

You could make the moment surrender
You could make mistakes that defend hurt and pass her by
I'm still locked in fate, nothings ever changed
You try to take it backwards
And you can make it up if you make it loud

My body burns bright burns so bright
And you can hit the floor
You were brave, brave once more
And I held my breath

My one line just brings you back
There's a time to talk and time to hush
You can take whats old and you can make it repent
You must be heaven sent when I am cold
Just tell me where it hurts

My body burns bright burns so bright
And you can hit the floor
You were brave, brave once more
And I held my breath

You look so right, you battled for the brighter side

You're right, you battle for the brighter side
You saw the light, you battle for the quiet side

My body burns bright burns so bright
And you can hit the floor
You were brave, brave once more
And I held my breath

Your denial beats my focus, it bleeds out fortune
Your denial keeps you tortured... I held my breath
