

Like a Bird

Parabelle

She had released all of her faith
She made the worst of the words I'd spoken
The only time when she felt safe was razor-marked
But that brings a certain kind of pain
The kind that you won't feel right away

If I could believe your nevers
I'd tell myself you're alive
If I could reach your cloud
I would fall and do it right into the sky

Like a bird, I'll break in just a little light
I'll break it right into your will to survive
I'll break it right into your will

Survive my own ways
I wouldn't have it any other way
You never wanted it, no not at all
I never wanted you here anyway

But I held my breath and I watched you fade
I watched you slip away, right out of sight

If I could believe your nevers
I'd tell myself you're alive
If I could reach your cloud
I would fall and do it right into the sky

I can be the one, I can be the one that understood
Life's mystery fade out and it never felt so good
I can be the one, I can be the one that understood
Life's mystery fade out and it never felt so good
I can be the one, I can be the one that understood...

If I could believe your nevers
I'd tell myself you're alive
If I could reach your cloud
I would fall and do it right into the sky

If I could believe your nevers
I'd tell myself you're alive
If I could reach your cloud
I would fall and do it right into the sky

Like a bird, I'll break in just a little light
I'll break it right into your will to survive
I'll break in just a little light
I'll break it right into your will to survive