

Oregon (Freedom)

Parabelle

If you're caught you're a lost cause somewhere
I look around but I still can't see you there
A method act that is going nowhere fast
And you might agree with that

I could light a candle
If you try once then try again

Because freedom rings
A thousand times
But it still won't try to carry you
With broken wings

Are you here and in the mood for structure
From a past that can only bring you fear
You can't tell but I'm the last one standing here
And I'm the wrong one to ask direction
You're the one who would pass all the advice
If you wait I will make it easy
But why do you keep making a mess

Because freedom rings
A thousand times
But it still won't try to carry you
With broken wings
And now freedom spins
A thousand minds
But it still won't try to carry you
With broken wings

And now freedom rings
A thousand times
But it still won't try to carry you
With broken wings
And now freedom spins
A thousand minds
But it still won't try to carry you
With broken wings
It still won't try to carry you
With broken wings
