

Tyrants Serenade

Paradise Lost

Another winter again
Forlorn as memories torment
Hollow they seem, another daydream
But then, a silent lament

So alone
Revealed the God of malevolence
Feel so cold alone
Through years, our destinies separate
Never let it show, never let it known
The slow pain as the liar celebrates
Feeling so alone

No more does sickness relent
As growing weakness prevents
Laughter, glances of second chances, but then
A darkness descends

So alone
Revealed the God of malevolence
Feel so cold alone
Through years, our destinies separate
Never let it show, never let it known
The slow pain as the liar celebrates
Feeling so alone
The tyrants serenade

Weary nights I wish and wonder
I'm dreaming, not tonight
Never dream at night
On dreary nights, I drift and wander
I'm screaming out to die

So alone
Revealed the God of malevolence
Feel so cold alone
Through years, our destinies separate
Never let it show, never let it known
The slow pain as the liar celebrates
Feeling so alone