

The Raging Planet

PARADOX

Look to the dark horizon
The clouds assemble, and rain will come
The flying birds above us
Are full of fear of the evil one

Unrest on earth, all creatures on the flight
Skies, black as hell, roaring
It's like the end of the planet's tonight

This hopeless situation
Is getting stronger, grows more and more
It's like a cruel sensation
And all the life's shattered to the core

Moments of tears, moments of blood and pain
Waters are here, children have drowned
The elders are driving insane

Now crack the walls of time!
When the raging planet's changing
He leaves us all behind
In the transformation we must die

The earth is torn wide open
There's burning rocks coming from inside
The flying birds are falling
The end of mankind has come tonight

Moments of tears, moments of blood and pain
Ultimate fear, children must die
The elders are driving insane

Now crack the walls of time!
When the raging planet's changing
He leaves us all behind
In the transformation we must die