

Liar (Re: Romy)

Paramore

Love is not an easy thing to admit
But I'm not ashamed of it
Love is not a weakening
If you feel it rushing in
Don't be ashamed of it
Love is not an easy thing to admit
But I'm not ashamed of it
Love is not a weakening
If you feel it rushing in
Don't be ashamed of it

What was the moment? It's hard to say
I'm sure I don't remember anyway
Before I only knew to hesitate
Pin back in the grenade
Does a light show up on my face?
Does it feel right in the wrong way?
What if I loved you and never said it?
Hide the emotion under the bed, would all
The energy I waste
Be better shared with you?

And, oh my love, I lied to you
But I never needed to
Oh my love, I lied to you
But you always knew the truth

I got too good at fighting chemicals
And dodging arrows I was asking for
Wading through the fog, and then it disappeared
Naked when I'm here
I'm getting good at giving alibis
Imagination runs wild
No fear and self-doubt
Heart beating in my mouth
Now every time I catch my line
I want to set it free

Love is not an easy thing to admit
But I'm not ashamed of it
Love is not a weakening
If you feel it rushing in
Don't be ashamed of it

Oh, oh-oh
Love is not an easy thing to admit
But I'm not ashamed of it
Oh, oh-oh
Love is not a weakening
If you feel it rushing in
Don't be ashamed of it

And, oh my love, I lied to you
But I never needed to
Oh my love, I lied to you
But you always knew the truth

Oh-oh, oh-oh
Oh my love, I lied to you
But I never needed to
Oh my love, I lied to you
But you always knew the truth