

Sanity

Paramore

Sanity, why must you make a fool of me?
You been a friend to me, now I think that we're enemies, yeah, yeah

If I fall on my knees, I hear you laughin'
If I call on your name, you don't come

No one home, but the void is loud
This must be the void
Echoes around my empty house
This must be the void
Synapses are slowin' down
But this must be the void they always talk about
This must be the void

Levity, fill me up, let me flow
I'll let you take care of me, you can help me let go

If I fall on my knees, I hear you laughin'
If I call on your name, you don't come

No one home, but the void is loud
This must be the void
Echoes around my empty house
This must be the void
Synapses are slowin' down
But this must be the void they always talk about
No one home, but the void is loud
This must be the void
Echoes around my empty house
This must be the void
Synapses are slowin' down
But this must be the void they always talk about
This must be the void

Finally, I have arrived
Finally, I have arrived
And there is nothin' to see
Finally, I have arrived
And there is nothin' to grieve
Finally, I have arrived, arrived, arrived, 'rived

No one home, but the void is loud
This must be the void
Echoes around my empty house
This must be the void
Synapses are slowin' down
But this must be the void they always talk about
This must be the void
No one home, but the void is loud
This must be the void
Echoes around my empty house
This must be the void
Synapses are slowin' down
But this must be the void they always talk about
This must be the void