(Make something with a soul in it you idiot)

Even the guilt and burden that pains my chest
Surely someone must have endured it

Autopilot I hate myself
That how I understand you
Smiling doesn't mean I'm happy
Now I've become an obstacle
My own expectations...

Even though I knew disappointment was coming
I accepted it and wandered around at sunset

Autopilot Now I understand you
Gave everything and got abandoned
Try to enjoy it but keep falling
Now I've become the one without me
My own expectations...

I'm trying to let it go
I'm trying to throw it away
I'm trying to forget
I'm trying to get rid of it

Like when I waited for the snow to come

Like when I hated adolescence
Like when passion burned my body
Like when I first found you
My immature and young heart
Which made everything out of nothing
So that I can remember even my back is bent
So that the future can hear me

So that I can embrace the sincerity
That others have shown me
So that I can return the sincerity
That others have shown me

Maybe Somewhere, Will the day ever come when I will be saved again
Maybe Somewhere, Where my past feelings won't fade away
Maybe Somewhere, Where I won't be afraid to sing my sincerity
Maybe Somewhere, Where I will be strong even after turning my back on everyone

Take me
To the place
