

Jealous Sun

Parker Millsap

Jealous sun he walks right in
Like the place belongs to him
Steals you from my arms again
He'll be back tomorrow

I have tried
To show him you're all mine
I've cast stones
I've begged I have cried
But all my pleas fall hollow

I can see how heaven could be lonely
But can't he find someone who ain't my only

But I've got something he can't take
Long before the morning wakes
The smile your mouith in moonlight makes
Hidden from Apollo

He can't see
The way you breathe in dreams
The way your eye in starlight seems
To make his shine look borrowed

I can see how heaven could be lonely
But can't he find someone who ain't my only
