

Be Careful What You Wish For

Parralox

Be careful what you wish for, you will never ever know
Don't try to change a stranger, just better let 'em go.
So be careful what you wish for, they will never ever know
Don't try to change a stranger, you better let 'em go
Because all of the dreams you had
Can so quickly turn wrong and bad
You might believe in a better world
But you know that it's gonna hurt.

The moment I met you, I knew it was right
We read all the same books, and listen to light
I'm stuck in the moment, I'm caught in the rain
I think that I like it, the pleasure and pain

We all need love, you understand, I know you can
But sometimes in life, there is no plan!

You tell me your secrets, then I tell you mine
But something is wrong now, did we cross the line?
The streets are all empty, for now that I know
All I wanted, was someone to hold
