

Lost

Pat Barrett

I thought I lost my way
Searching for some mistakes
Been running in circles around in my head
Tryna to make sense of all that I've done, that I've said
But forgiveness is nothin'
If I can't forgive myself

I'm not lost I'm just finding my way back home
I'm not broken I'm learning to let it all go
Over and over, I've lied to myself
I can't hide from You anymore
I'm not lost I'm just finding my way back home

I've come a long, long way
Still can't believe I'm safe
And holding me back is the weight of regret
All the hurt that I've caused, that I long to forget
I'm praying for changes
I'm willing to make amends

I'm not lost I'm just finding my way back home
I'm not broken I'm learning to let it all go
Over and over, I've lied to myself
I can't hide from You anymore
I'm not lost I'm just finding my way back home

I don't have to wait 'til the end of the journey
To know of Your goodness and the sweet taste of mercy
I know that you're here Lord, walking beside me
Show me the way

I'm not lost I'm just finding my way back home
I'm not broken I'm learning to let it all go
Over and over, I've lied to myself
I can't hide from You anymore
I'm not lost I'm just finding my way back home
Show me the way

I don't have to wait 'til the end of the journey
To know of Your goodness and the sweet taste of mercy
I know that you're here Lord, walking beside me
Show me the way

I'm not lost, I'm finding my way back home
I'm not lost, I'm finding my way back home
Show me the way
