

Memory

Patent Pending

This is me getting over you
This is the best that I can do.
This is me letting go
The last to know
Mistakes you can't undo
This is me burning photographs
This is me filling in the gaps
This is how it has to be
The last to see
The best of me is found
Everything about you
Is like a memory
It's like everything you said
You never said to me
Head in the clouds
It was love
I'd mistaken for falling down
I was holding onto something that I thought could be
The greatest love song of the century
Left me alone to pick up
Every piece of the mess you made of me
You're the very worst part of me
This is you wishing it's not true
This is doing all that you can do
This is me walking out
Removing doubt
The things I never knew
This is how it feels to know you're wrong
This is understanding all along
This is all I have to know
I told you so
It comes and goes around
I miss the smell of alcohol
And falling apart
And now I'm patient
Waiting for your call
Is breaking my heart
Now it's losing its appeal
How always think it's weird how I worry
'cause I worry
And I've been known to judge
A person by their matter of fact
But don't you bother with equations
'cause I'm finished with that
Like how me minus you equals me completely
(me minus you equals me completely (4x))
You're the very worst part of me.