

Cold Back Down

Patty Gurdy

Oh, the ice is getting thin
Don't think my blood deserves survival
Oh, I was like a lamb, but now the cold hardened my skin
Not willing to bow and to give in

And when will the giant glacier melt? When will it move away?!
So stuck in this scenery, low energy, no bravery

Break and let me drown
To the cold back down
Break and let me drown
To the cold back down

Oh! What certainty can give the safety that I require?
The ice on which we build this town will break and it will drown -
Can't wait for it to pull us down

And when will the giant glacier melt? When will it move away?!

When the glacier's melting down, waiting here to see it drown
When the chapter closes I'll wake you up, let's swim tonight!

When the glacier's melting down, hit me up and throw me down
Waiting here to see the end, felt it coming all the time!
When the chapter closes I'll wake you up, we'll swim tonight
Energy is rising, I have the urge to survive!
