Luring

Patty Gurdy

I'm the cold, cold water in the long, deep river
What is luring you is what will cause the deadly shiver
And all that's sacred is all that withers

And you were never keen, resisting all that's been
Forever I remain in waters never seen

I'm your personal mirror, cut to fit you forever
Evolving so that you can have your mortal steerer
Cause all that's sacred is all that's with us

And you were never keen, resisting all that's been
Forever I remain in waters never seen

When I saw the river the sun was up and blinding and
On the surface gleaming with no sight down
Should I stay till dusk? But I'd trifle away the joyous day!
So I kept on wandering, so alone

I see it can't be wrong, when we are always drawn
To cast our flaw along and stay until we're done

I'm the cold, cold water in the long deep river
What is luring you is what will cause the deadly shiver
And all that's sacred is all that withers
