

Look What Love Has Done

Patty Smyth

I woke up this morning feeling lonely
There's so much my heart just does not understand
There were times when nothing really mattered
But now I find I care too much
There's life in everything I touch

Look what love has done to me
I am not who I used to be
Everything is changing, now we'll never be the same
Look at what love has done to us
Will we ever learn to trust
We're running out of time, there's so little time
Baby look what love has done to me

Oh, yeah

Now it's late at night, I'm here without you
I'm trying to make my way to where you are Can't you see, I'll still be here waiting
Can't you see, our two hearts were always meant to be as one

Look at what love has done to us
When will we ever learn to trust
We're running out of time, there's so little time, baby
Will you look what love has done to me

I'm calling out your name, baby
Calling out, calling out, yeah, yeah, yeah

Now look at what love has done to us
When will we ever learn to trust
We're running out of time
There's so, so little time, baby
Oh, look what love has done
Baby look what love has done to me

Look what love has done
Done to me