

Shame on You, Shame on Me

Paul Carrack

Well the lightning strike
Early in the morning
Not a single cloud
In a clear blue sky
You shook me to my soul
'Cause it came without a warning
Lightning don't strike
In the same place twice

Well you seem to believe
That you're God's gift to women
No doubt in your mind
You've got it all going on
But you think that you're so smart
The world owes you a living
But in reality
You couldn't be more wrong

Well you fooled me once
Shame on you
Well I did not see it coming
Now I see through you
You got a second chance
But at last I see
'Cause you fooled me twice
And that's a shame on me

Shame, shame, shame on you
Shame, shame, shame on me

I was caught like a fly
In a web you were weaving
I was telling the truth
But you were lying all the while
What I call give and take
You perceive as a weakness
If I give you an inch
I know you're gonna take a mile

Well you fooled me once
Shame on you
Well you don't know what you got coming
But the debt is due
You took advantage of a friend
But now I see
'Cause you fooled me twice
And that's a shame on me

Shame, shame, shame on you
Shame, shame, shame on me

Shame, shame, shame on you

Well you fooled me once
Shame on you

Shame on you
Shame on you...
