

Higher Power

Paul McDonald

I'm traveling
Sunset is behind me
4:30 in the evening
Didn't feel late when I was leaving
I was hoping you might call me
To tell me you miss me
We left it open-ended
We're so good at pretending

Searching for a higher power
Under this blood-red moon
Wrap my arms around you
Here's to wishing for something new
I feel invincible and honest
Enough to admit my faults
The days might have darkness
But together, we're both better off
Searching for a higher power

A new destination
A new way of seeing
The countryside is glowing
Revealing its secrets
Snow is covering my tracks
So there's always a new way back
Yeah, there's always a new way back
Yeah, there's always a new way back

Searching for a higher power
With all the stars in the sky
Wrap my arms around you...
If you need a little help getting by
A drop in the ocean
A needle in a thread
You have my devotion
And I won't ever rest
Searching for a higher power

We are not finished here yet
Remembering all we have left

Searching for a higher power
Under this blood-red moon
Wrap my arms around you
Here's to wishing for something new
I feel invincible and honest
Enough to admit my faults
The days might have darkness
But together, we're both better off
Searching for a higher power
A higher power
A higher power
Searching for a higher...
