

Stardust

Paul McDonald

When I look in the mirror, it's a little bit clearer
The wreckage left behind
A constant barrage of self-sabotage
Yeah, I damn near lost my mind

Get me out of my head
Myself will be the end of me
I am my own worst enemy
And peel me out of my bed
Open my eyes and prophesize
The light will shine through every open door

Call it my revelation
Call it my contemplation
There is no word to define
The peak of the mountain
Or that eternal fountain
That we're all just trying to find

Get me out of my head
Myself will be the end of me
I am my own worst enemy
And peel me out of my bed
Open my eyes and prophesize
The light will shine through every open door

We are stardust to the core
I guess I never knew before
But I can't say that anymore

Get me out of my head
Why can't I just stay up here
Where it's so crystal clear?
Get me out of my head
I don't want to come back down
I just want to look around
Look...

Get me out of my head
Myself will be the end of me
I am my own worst enemy
And peel me out of my bed
Open my eyes and prophesize
The light will shine through every open door

We are stardust to the core
I guess I never knew before
But I can't say that anymore
Yeah, I can't say that anymore
Yeah, I can't say that anymore
I can't say that anymore
I can't say that anymore
Anymore, anymore, anymore, anymore
I can't say that anymore
Anymore, anymore, anymore, anymore
I never knew before
I guess I never knew before

We are stardust. We are stardust
We are stardust. We are stardust
We are stardust. We are. We are. We are
I guess I never knew before
I guess I never knew before
