

Born To Fly

Paul Williams

Is it wrong to say
I love you right away
To somebody new
Even though you know you do
You decide what's right for you and I'll decide for me
You know where you're comin' from and where you'd like to be
All of us are different as the snow flakes from the sky
Snow was born to fall
We were born to fly

Is it best to hide
The things you feel inside
And never let them show
Don't let anybody know
Think about the rich ol' man who never learned to smile
Doesn't know that sometimes laughin' makes it all worthwhile
I believe the strongest people aren't afraid to cry
Tears were born to fall
We were born to fly

Follow your heart like the path of an arrow
That looks for a home in the morning sky
Out of the nest like a small summer sparrow
He knows in his heart he was born to fly
Knows in his heart he was born to fly

When it's time old friend
For a worn out love to end
If what you shared has gone
But you feel like holdin' on
Realize that long goodbyes are bound to make you sad
Look around for something new
And treasure what you had
It isn't always easy but we're still supposed to try
Even if we fall
We were born to fly
Even when we fall
We were born to fly
