

Gone Forever

Paul Williams

Gone forever
I sit alone for hours
Wondering what went wrong and who's to blame
I was there to see a black cloud pulled across the sky
Wondering when it was that love began to die

Gone forever
Now gone but not forgotten
How could I forget the likes of you
Just the sight of you could make imaginations fly
Just to think about you almost makes me cry

Cause you were something to remember
Warm and lovely like the sun
Every morning still reminds me
Brings a tear that nearly blinds me
One more day to live through
One more day of living without you

Gone forever
And all the fools have told me
Try to find a life with someone new
Share the pillow where a dream once took the time to lie
Having known you I would never even try

Gone forever
Gone forever
