

Last December

Paulini

I got your picture on my wall, can't take it down or put myself together
And every time I hear your voice on the line, [?] that it takes me under
I don't know why it's so hard to let you go, this is how far we go
No more can take us back home, I travel on this road all alone

I'm going to scream and shout, cry out, 'til I can't remember
The way you kissed and held me tight just last December
All I wanna do is just forget the guilt we had
I'm gonna walk so far away, I'm gonna walk so far away

I got my friends telling me "move on it's time to find another"
I try to make you last on my list, temptation is stronger
I remind myself that I gave it all I got, and no stone unturned
The differences between us, too far apart, I can't go back now

I'm going to scream and shout, cry out, 'til I can't remember
The way you kissed and held me tight just last December
All I wanna do is just forget the guilt we had
I'm gonna walk so far away, I'm gonna walk so far away

I'm wishing you all the best, with somebody else
The kiss that I miss will last, in somebody else's sky
That I never recognize, but I know I'll be alright
I was made to survive, to survive

I'm going to scream and shout, cry out, 'til I can't remember
The way you kissed and held me tight just last December
All I wanna do is just forget the guilt we had
I'm gonna walk so far away, I'm gonna walk so far away
