

Sensitive Euro Man

Pavement

Sensitive Euro Man

We're so envious of your etiquette demands
Until we saw you lost in the dark
Without your bright ideals

Well I never heed with the tick of a clock
And the calendar girls told me what month it was
You know, some boys just will never give up
In light of your bright ideals

Intuition need no alibi
Cause you never can tell when it will arrive
You know, hagglers always know when
To spit on your bright ideals

There's a reckless thoughts of a Christian missionary
He's a pattern binding proctor
You can't spell so he mocked ya
It's no wonder that you don't have the time
For the light of his bright ideals