

Never Now

Pears

An ex-terrestrial in rapturous still frame
All watcher felled in unison
With shielded eyes upon morality poundcake
Horizons tallied only one

My tired heart
Broken, battered
In vacuous silence, a faint pitter patter
It skips til it fails, and it fragments and scatters

Yeah, forever never now
I am always watching you
Remnants breed in every bough
Never now

A moment buzzes as it carnally covets
The consciousness it must imbibe
Perched ever patiently directly above it
Within, without, am I alive?

The answer ain't yes
The answer ain't no
The question is wrong

Yeah, forever never now
I am always watching you
Remnants breed in every bough
Never now