Four or five times, four or five times
There is delight, doing things right, four or five times
Maybe you'll sigh, maybe you'll cry
But if you die, you oughta try four or five times

One two and three times or four five and six times Or seven or eight times might do Nine ten eleven is better than seven but If that's too much try four or five times

Four or five times, just four or five times Kiss him and then kiss him again, four or five times And tell him that you always are true Kiss him and sigh, kissing goodbye, four or five times

Four or five times, ooh, four or five times
There is delight, doing things right, four or five times
And maybe you'll sigh, yes, maybe you'll cry
But if you die, you oughta try four or five times
Four or five times
